We often hear it said, that the al is growing worse and more wick-ery day; but this is demonstrated to be talse by the fact, that during Christ's personal ministry, none were found sufficiently pure and free from sin, to stone the unfortunate woman that was brought to him. Now, we have a few at least, that feel eminently they are in NO WAY connected with qualined to throw rocks at their neigh-bors, upon the most groundless suspicion. Gets His Goose Cooked to His

On Monday last, the 5th inst., T. S. Hinde, of this city, started out in company with his favorite double-barreled gun, for a few hours' pleasure at his favorite pastime, hunting. After a considerable time, spent in rambling up and down the river and around the lakes, his labors were rewarded wun the possession of a large fat goose. The ambition of our worthy Nunrod seeming now fully satisfied, he turned himself around about and started for his home. Arriving at his store in this city, he alighted from his buggy to rest himself, and receive the congratulations of his many friends upon his success as a shooter. Loud and profuse were the feign, d eulogiste oral effusions which seemed to spontaneously emanate from the bosom of the erowd, while Constable Brown called ur hero to one side "to see him privately for a minute." When Hinde returned he found that the crowd had dispersed; and a vacancy stared him in the face, from the place which his goose had occupied. He began to 'smell a mouse" and at once grew furious. He raved and swore; charged about threateningly and foamed-but all to no purpose; the goose could not be found. Atter 'searching about diligently for a couple or three days, saspicioning many, and enquiring of every one he met, with a hope of finding some clue to either the whereabouts of the goose, or t e perpetrator of the joke-sometimes threatening persons suspicionesl, in order to gain track of the lost treasure; and at other times trying confidentially to get some one to divu ge the coveted information. But his plans all failed and finally he reinetantiy and sorrowfully gave up the

Nothing more was thought of the matter until Thursday about ten o'clock, Dobyns and wife, of THE COUNTY PA--John Martin and Wylie Carter, of PER, that it was desirable that they, four, should present themselves at the residence of Sheriff Frame promptly at 12-30 o'clock, to partake of a dinner pre; ared from the flesh of a wild goose. Of course they all went, and lo, and behold, the mystery was solved-Frame had played the trick. We deem it unnece-sary to further particularize; suffice it to say that Mrs. Frame, that queen of the kitchen, had excelled herself in the preparation of this goose, and all partook heartily thereof, in connection with the many other good things prepared; that a few hours of real pleasure were passed, and that then, all returned to their homes expecting long to remember the joke, and in the doorway of our new Court House. feeling a hope that f.
